Practice Areas

Litigation

Taylor C. Hinds is an associate attorney in the firm's Litigation practice area.

Since joining Houston Harbaugh, Taylor has supported the litigation practice by drafting pleadings, motions, and agreements; conducted comprehensive legal research and analysis; and participated in depositions, hearings, and client meetings.

Before joining Houston Harbaugh, Taylor served as a Legal Intern at FMC Corporation in Philadelphia as part of the Philadelphia Law Diversity Group Fellowship. There, she worked closely with the company's in-house counsel on contract management, vendor compliance, and corporate policy development, gaining valuable insight into the intersection of law and business operations.
